GEO. WALTER SITES, -- EDITOR,

For the past week our exchanges have been filled with accounts of the great Chicago calamity, and the vast fires sweeping over the North Western prairies. We have done all we could to give our readers all the facts; more could not be expected of us. Contributions for the relief of ready in 1869 to assist in destroying the the sufferers in money, provisions and radical party in North Carolina, provided clothing, have been poured in with a geninsurance companies are now paying their priests. losses, the homeless have been housed and fed, and consequently all danger of immediate suffering is at an end. There is no apprehension that the devastated portion of the city will not soon be rebuilt. The energy of the Great West cannot be repressed, besides Chicago is the depot of transfer in the natural track of commerce, and therefore it must be restored, not only for the North-west, but for the nation at large.

The accounts from the prairie fires, are more saddening day by day. The latest advices from Northern Wisconsin state that the loss of life in the neighborhood of Peshtigo will reach over twelve hundred. The only survivors were those who were fortunate enough to reach the water, many throwing themselves into mill-ponds, clinging to floating logs. A number of these were drowned by being thrown from the logs by maddened horses and cattle that rushed into the water. The fire swept over a tract of country eight or ten miles wide. Every building, fence, and all the timber was completely destroyed. The population of Peshtigo numbered 2,000, one-third of whom perished on that first fearful night.

Reports from the eastern shore of Green Bay place the loss of life fully as high as at Peshtigo. The news from Michigan is very meagre, but most terrible. No details have come to hand, but the total destruction of a large number of towns is reported, with a corresponding loss of life.

The following extract which we take from a well-considered editorial in the Wilmington Journal, has our hearty approval. The people of the South must wake up to facts, disagreeable though they may be to a great many, and be a little more practical in their political views than they have hitherto been. The renomination of Grant by a packed Convention of the radical party is a foregone conclusion; and with millions upon millions of dollars of patronage and corruption fund to assist We will club the PRESS and SCRIBNER for Horticulture, and kindred subjects. The him, he will certainly be re-elected unless the Conservatives and Democrats of the country unite with the moderate men of that it is solemn truth:

If a nomination is made that can unite the Democratic vote with the moderate Republicans, President Grant can and will be defeated.

The question then arises, is there such a man? We believe there is. If we go into the Presidential election to win, we must ignore all smaller considerations. We must not tilt against the wind. The Southern people, at least, are tired of such useless sport. They have neither the means nor the time to waste. Their material prosperity, more and more demands their entire attention. They will make no base surrender of principle, but they do not care to further exhaust themselves in a useless contest.

If, then, the lesson of the late elections shall be heeded by the National Democratic party it may be as fortunate as their successes four years ago were disastrous. Blessings frequently come in disguise. It by misfortune."

A MOST HEINOUS OUTRAGE .- This sec tion has been singularly exempt from the more revolting outrages, instances of which, occurring in nearly every portion of the south, meet our eyes almost daily as we examine our exchanges. But the natural result of radical teaching, which, where they have sufficient numbers, pla ces the negro above the white man, and fills him with the idea that there are no social distinctions which he need respect, is now at our own doors. A Davidson correspondent informs us that some three weeks since, a white lady of highly respectable family and connections, aged 62 years, and whose name is suppressed for the present for obvious reasons, was returning on foot from Thomasville on the track of the Railroad, about one hour before sundown, when a black fiend suddenly turned upon her, seized her, choked her to the ground and consummated a crime of which we hardly dare to write. The victim was so badly choked, and otherwise maltreated in her efforts to escape the grasp of her assailant, that her physicians for some days considered her in a critical condition. Large, livid marks of the fiend's fingers could be seen upon the unfortanate lady's throat, and other portions of her body. Fortunately, the villain did not escape. He was caught about four miles this side of Greensboro by Capt. W ington. The Sheriff, however, considered the jail at that place unsafe, and conveyed the wretch to Salisbury where he now remains in prison.

NEGRO KUKLUX .- WHERE ARE CARROW, STARBUCK AND PHILLIPS ?- A friend in Davidson county writes us that two negroes, partially disguised, recently went after night to the house of a widow white woman in that county, and asked to stay all night. Upon being refused, they beat down the door and otherwise insulted and maltreated the female inmates. One of the negroes is now in jail, having been arrested by the county authorities, and the other is still at large. Had it been white up his proclamation of the 12th inst., by men and Conservatives who committed another, in which he declared martial law this outrage another Kuklux yell would and suspended the habeas corpus in nine have echoed from one end of the Union to counties of South Carolina. LITTLE THINGS.

The sharpest thorns are always small And painful are the stings Of little insects that unfold The tiniest of wings, The vessel that in safety rode The billows' mighty reach.

'Mid briefer waves may separate, And strand upon the beach. A hasty word, an unknown look,

False hearts that once were true, (Dark weeds that sprang up in the path Where only roses grew;)
The careless smiles when we besought

The sympathizing tear-And thorns that rankle in the flesh With agony severe.

'Twere less a martyrdom to yield One's life for conscience sake, Than suffer torture, wrong and shame, Before we reach the stake. A giant sinks beneath the blow Of pebbles, David slings;

The weight of little things. These little things-these little things! Mere trifles they appear; And yet, like frost they chill the buds,

And disappoint the year! They make an aggregate of woe, They poison with the strings; Ah, me! I need a world of grace To bear these little things.

And I am often crushed beneath

But patience, in her perfect work, Must not be checked nor stayed, For in these troubled tenements Are God's fair angels made; And these sharp thorns, for aught I know,

May help to plume the wings, With which my soul that soar above

Earth and these little things.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

The reputation this ex-cellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous discases of Scrottious dis-ease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were ag-disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous polson is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scropulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Disease, Fits, Epitepsy, Neuragia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Fenereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long-continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhæa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Femals Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied grafts. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSA-PARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.
